Trust, and dream, and fly,
The horizon slips away
Why, what for? Do they part for evermore?

chorus

In your city there's snow, falling in white flakes
In the window I know, light. Only I'm not there.

Trust, and dream, and fly,
The horizon's carried far
Why, what for? We run away from what we're facing.

chorus

In my city there's snow, falling in white flakes
In the window I know, light. Only you're not there.
