Beyond the ocean of dreams set aflame
Your furious sword is gleaming through the mist.
An avalanche of senseless words rolls on,
Biting us with the heartburn of hate.

chorus

Let it roll on like a wave,
Washing away the fear of leaving alive.
But pain has torn it all open behind the wall,
Tearing down the gates of someone else's lies.

The blue sky, the voice of carelessness,
The calm of the wind follows us.
After the storm the forest always shows,
The messenger of heaven, sheltered by hope.
